1 I, Norman Zada, declare as follows:

2 1. I make this declaration in support of Perfect 10's reply in support of the 3 motion of Perfect 10 for preliminary injunction. Except where otherwise stated, I have 4 direct and personal knowledge of the facts set forth herein and, if called as a witness, 5 could and would competently testify thereto.

6 2. This declaration is intended to respond to a number of factual 7 inaccuracies in the declarations of Alexander Macgillivray, Susan Lee, and John 8 Levine, and Andrew Bridges, and to address Google's claims that I do not have 9 sufficient expertise to make a number of the statements in my August declaration.

10 My Background

11 3. Because Google has challenged my "expertise" on a variety of fronts, I 12 will go into more detail regarding my background. I received my Ph.D. in Operations 13 Research from U.C. Berkeley at the age of 22. Prior to graduating, I had taken a 14 number of computer courses and had become proficient in more than one computer 15 language. In the Fall of 1972, I began work as a research staff member in IBM's main 16 computer science department in Yorktown Heights, NY. While at IBM, I learned a 17 great deal about computer science. Prior to joining IBM, in the summer after receiving 18 my Ph.D., I wrote the first draft of a book entitled "Winning Poker Systems," which 19 was published by Prentice Hall in 1974. To write this book, I did a considerable 20 amount of computer programming. I have written thousands of lines of computer code 21 to analyze Poker, Backgammon, Various Sports, and the Stock, Options, and 22 Commodities markets.

23 4. I have taught Operations Research and Statistics as a visiting professor at 24 Columbia, Stanford, UCLA, and U.C. Irvine.

25 5. In or around 1980, I was offered visiting professorships to teach computer 26 science at both U.C. Santa Cruz and U.C. Berkeley.

27 6. There is a very substantial overlap between computer science and other 28 branches of applied mathematics, including Operations Research. For example, my

1 father, who was a Professor of Electrical Engineering at Columbia University in 1959, 2 is now a professor Emeritus in Computer Science at U.C. Berkeley. I have extensive 3 programming background in many different areas, as well as extensive experience with 4 the Internet. In the ordinary course of my job responsibilities at Perfect 10, I have 5 spent thousands of hours locating infringing Perfect 10 images on the Internet, 6 including over a 1000 hours reviewing infringing images and links displayed by 7 Google. I am qualified to make the statements I have made in the Declaration of 8 Norman Zada in Support of Motion For Preliminary Injunction dated August 19, 2005
9 ("Zada Decl.") (also referred to as "my August declaration").

10 Work and Support for this Declaration

11 7. In preparation for this declaration, I have read the declarations of 12 Alexander Macgillivray, Susan Lee, John Levine, and Andrew Bridges, as well as 13 Defendant's Memorandum of Points and Authorities.

14 8. The Exhibits attached hereto, except where otherwise noted, fall into one 15 of three categories: (a) true and correct copies of documents that have been printed by 16 me, in some cases reduced to leave space to bind the exhibits; (b) true and correct
17 copies of documents that I have downloaded from the Internet using Adobe 6.0 18 Professional which I then printed and which were, in some cases, reduced to put into 19 exhibit form; (c) true and correct copies of documents that were printed by others 20 under my direction.

21 9. Exhibits attached hereto, unless stated otherwise, were printed or 22 downloaded by me using an Internet browser or Adobe 6.0 that was set to record: (a) 23 the URL (i.e., the Internet address) of the webpage that was viewed and printed; and 24 (b) the date and time the page was printed or downloaded. In a number of instances, I 25 have highlighted sections of exhibits in yellow for the convenience of the Court.

1 Misstatements in The Declaration of Alexander Macgillivray Regarding Removal
2 of Perfect 10 Images

3 10. Perfect 10 began advising Google that it was displaying Perfect 10 4 copyrighted images on May 31, 2004, and has since sent to Google a total of 37 5 DMCA notices covering more than 7,000 infringing URLs.

6 11. In his declaration, Mr. Macgillivray made several errors in describing 7 Google's response to these DMCA notices. Probably the most glaring errors are Mr.
8 Macgillivray's claims in paragraph 19 of his declaration that "Google diligently and 9 promptly responded to Dr. Zada's notices...," in paragraph 22 that, "with only four 10 exceptions Google processed Dr. Zada's October 11, 2004 notice and later notices 11 within two weeks of receipt, often within one week" (emphasis added), and in 12 paragraph 8, that "Google acts expeditiously to remove or disable access to infringing 13 material upon gaining such awareness of such material." Although Mr. Macgillivray 14 did not provide a list of URLs that Google allegedly "processed," nor did he describe 15 what Google did or when, I will explain below why his statements are inaccurate.

16 12. Mr. Macgillivray's statement that Google has processed (presumably 17 meaning removed) Perfect 10 notices of infringements within one or two weeks is false 18 for at least four reasons. First, I have already shown in my August declaration that 19 Google was continuing to display, via Image Search, at least 1,043 Perfect 10 images 20 for which it had received notice, and that in some cases, it had displayed infringing 21 copies of Perfect 10 copyrighted images for more than 400 days after notice. Zada 22 Decl. ¶¶ 96-102, Exhs. 81, 84. I also showed in my August declaration that Google
23 had not removed a number of Web Search results for over 400 days after notice. Zada 24 Decl. Exh. 85, pages 543-548 and 553-562. (These exhibits showed that Google 25 continued to display Perfect 10 images via its cache link from its Web Search results.)

26 13. Moreover, although I attached approximately 665 infringements as hard 27 copies to my August declaration (many of them being the images referred to in my 28 DMCA notices) and provided Google with additional excel spreadsheets via Exhibits

1 81, 84, 93, and 97 (which listed infringing URLs from prior notices which Google had 2 not removed, many of which were attached as hard copy exhibits), and gave Google 3 additional explanations as to how I obtained those spreadsheets, Google still has not 4 removed virtually any of the infringements Perfect 10 has complained about. In 5 particular, on or about October 1, 2005, Google was continuing to display virtually all 6 of the approximately 665 Perfect 10 images that were provided as hard copy exhibits 7 to my August declaration. To support this statement, I have reprinted, on or about 8 October 1, most of the hard copy exhibits to my August declaration, and have attached 9 them as Exhibit 1 to this declaration. For example, Exhibit 1, page 1 of this 10 declaration matches Exhibit 10, page 124 of my August declaration, just printed out on 11 a later date, October 12, 2005. Similarly, Exhibit 1, pages 2 through 6 of this 12 declaration, printed out on October 12, 2005, matches pages 134, 137, 139, 142, and 13 145 of Exhibit 16 to my August declaration. I did not attach to Exhibit 1 some exhibits 14 that were duplicated by others, such as Exhibit 80, which was duplicated by Exhibit 15 116. Additionally, I have reprinted most of the approximately 1300 soft copy 16 infringements attached to my August declaration as Exhibits 83 A-K and L-Z and 17 placed them on a computer disk attached hereto as Exhibit 2 to show that Google also 18 did not remove virtually any of those infringements. Exhibit 2 has the same model 19 folders as Exhibits 83 A-K and L-Z to my August declaration, along with other folders
20 matching those in Exhibits 83 A-K and L-Z, containing in most cases the same exact 21 infringements, except reprinted on or around October 1, 2005. For example, the model 22 folders in Exhibit 2 (contained in folders entitled "Models A-K" and "Models L-Z")
23 show that on or about October 1, Google continued to display 1035 of the 1043 Perfect 24 10 copyrighted images identified in Exhibit 81 to my August declaration.

25 14. Attached hereto as Exhibit 3 is an Excel spreadsheet that details the 26 images attached as hard copy exhibits to my August declaration that Google still 27 displayed via Google Image Search on or about October 1, 2005, broken down by 28 exhibit. The first column gives the Exhibit number to my August declaration. The 1 second column gives the name of the Perfect 10 model pictured in that exhibit. The 2 third column gives a description of the exhibit, including in most cases, the website 3 from which Google copied the image that it is displaying. The fourth column gives the 4 number of images displayed by Google via Google's Image Search in that exhibit as 5 attached to my August declaration. (I have not counted cached images in this exhibit, 6 which relate to Web Search results, which I discuss below.) The final column gives 7 the number of images still displayed by Google from that exhibit on or about October 8 1. The second row of Exhibit 3, which I have highlighted, indicates that there were 9 five large Perfect 10 copyrighted images of Vibe Sorenson attached as Exhibit 16 to 10 my August declaration, all of which were still being displayed by Google on or about 11 October 1, 2005 (actually October 12, 2005 as discussed above). Google continues to 12 display these images despite the fact that behind each image in Exhibit 16 to my 13 August declaration was attached the original image (either from Perfect 10 Magazine, 14 or perfect10.com). As Exhibit 3 demonstrates, of the 665 Perfect 10 images 15 attached as hard copy exhibits to my August declaration, Google was continuing 16 to display 663 of them on or about October 1, 2005.

17 15. Moreover, despite extensive notice, many of the infringements in Exhibit 18 1 were displayed by Google for hundreds of days prior to being attached as hard copy 19 exhibits to my August declaration. Exhibit 4 is an Excel spreadsheet that I created that 20 shows the length of time Google has displayed Perfect 10 images attached as hard 21 copy exhibits to my August declaration for which it had previously received notice.
22 For example, the fifth entry, which I have highlighted, indicates that on June 28, 2004, 23 Perfect 10 sent Google a notice regarding infringements of Perfect 10 model Sasha 24 Brinkova on a web page with the URL russiancelebrities.org/rclGallery.asp?GID=4.
25 That notice appears in Exhibit 43, page 300 to my August declaration. For the 26 convenience of the court, I have attached that page from Exhibit 43 as Exhibit 5 to this 27 declaration, and have highlighted the infringing URL as well as the pages from Perfect 28 10 Magazine containing the original image (vol 2, no 4 p 14-23). The actual 1 infringement was attached as page 549 of Exhibit 85 to my August declaration.

2 Nevertheless, as of October 12, 2005, Google continued to display that image, 469
3 days after notice (see Exhibit 1, page 61), and had even added a few additional similar 4 images of Ms. Brinkova.

5 16. Even in the rare instances that Google seems to have removed certain 6 Perfect 10 images, it has often “added them back” to its image display. On or about 7 August 12, 2005, Google added a significant number of images to its image display
8 (See Zada Decl., ¶¶ 150-151). Attached as Exhibit 6 is an Excel spreadsheet that I 9 created similar in substance to Exhibit 81 from my August declaration, which contains 10 images that I was not able to find in Google’s Image Search results after sending 11 Google my notices, that have since been added back. This spreadsheet is based in part 12 on Exhibit 7, which contains ten such examples, as well as the model folders in Exhibit 13 2. I have highlighted on page 154 of Exhibit 6 certain URLs ending in “.jpg” as 14 explained in paragraph 28 below.

15 17. Attached as Exhibit 7 are ten examples of images for which a) Perfect 10 16 provided notice to Google, b) sometime thereafter, Google was not displaying the 17 image for search results on that model name, and c) now Google is displaying the 18 image for search results on that model name. For example, the URL under the Perfect 19 10 copyrighted image of Amy Caro on page 156 of Exhibit 7, was first identified in a 20 notice sent to Google on June 4, 2004. For the convenience of the Court, I have 21 reproduced the relevant page from that notice (which was page 280 of Exhibit 41 to 22 my August declaration), have highlighted the URL (at the top of the page), and have 23 attached it as Exhibit 8. That notice also identified the volume number and page 24 number of Perfect 10 Magazine where the original image could be located as Vol 3, 25 No. 4, pp 28. As of July 18, 2005, Google was not displaying that image as the result 26 of an image search on Amy Caro. (This is verified by the Amy Caro model folder in 27 Exhibit 83 A-K to my August declaration.) However, Google is now displaying that 28

1 image again, copied from the URL abc-celebs/html_modelle/amy_caro_ita.htm, which 2 was identified in my June 4, 2004 notice.

3 18. Google has not “removed” or “disabled access to Perfect 10 images” 4 because Google itself continues to copy and display more and more of them, now close 5 to 5,000 copies of approximately 1500 different images. Virtually every one of these 6 1500 different images that Google continues to display have been identified in at least 7 one DMCA notice. For example, the image of Monika Zsibrita attached as Exhibit 77, 8 page 462 to my August declaration was identified as an infringed Perfect 10 9 copyrighted image in Perfect 10’s May 31, 2004 DMCA notice to Google. Zada Reply 10 Decl. Exh. 11, page 182 (seventh listed URL). It was also identified as an infringed 11 image in 31 other DMCA notices. Google has not “disabled access” to that infringing 12 image, because as of October 1, 2005, despite 32 DMCA notices, Google was itself 13 displaying 39 different copies of that image, and was linking those infringing copies to 14 31 different infringing websites, at least four of which are AdSense websites 15 (alibabaweb.com, celebstation.org, eroticaland.net, and hebus.com). On page 105 of 16 Exhibit 1, I have highlighted the URLs below several of those same images which 17 Google continues to display. Google is also linking that one image to websites which 18 together contain over 4,000 different Perfect 10 copyrighted images. I have attached 19 some of those images, most of which contain Perfect 10 copyright notices, in a folder 20 entitled “linked infringements” in Exhibit 2.

21 19. Google has also in many cases not expeditiously removed infringing links 22 from its Web Search results. Attached as Exhibit 9 are copies of infringing web pages 23 that a) were identified in notices to Google over 435 days ago, b) that were also 24 attached as hard copies in Exhibit 85 to my August declaration, and c) that Google still 25 had not removed as of October 1, 2005, in some cases more than 480 days after notice.
26 For example, page 167 of Exhibit 9 was obtained by doing a Google Web Search on 27 Perfect 10 model Natalia Sirocka and by clicking on Google’s cache link. It contains 28 the same image from the same URL as Exhibit 85, page 543 attached to my August

1 declaration. Google received notice regarding infringements of Natalia Sirocka on that 2 web page on June 4, 2004. Zada Reply Decl. Exh. 8, page 166, second URL from 3 bottom of page.

4 20. Finally, Google continues to enable and encourage its users to download 5 Perfect 10 images onto their cell phones. Attached as Exhibit 10 is an example of one 6 such download obtained by using my cell phone to do a Google Image Search on 7 Perfect 10 model Isabelle Funaro, which I viewed on October 5, 2005. Page 181 of 8 Exhibit 10 is the result of clicking on the reduced size image shown on Page 180 of 9 Exhibit 10, which displays a “Google Images” logo.

10 21. Collectively, Exhibits 1 through 10 refute Mr. Macgillivray’s unsupported 11 contention that Google has removed Perfect 10 infringements within a week or two of 12 notice.

13 Errors In Macgillivray Declaration Regarding Alleged Deficiencies of DMCA
14 Notices

15 22. Mr. Macgillivray makes a number of statements in his declaration 16 regarding deficiencies in Perfect 10’s DMCA notices that are simply wrong, as well as 17 contradicted by emails that I have received from Google.

18 23. For example, Mr. Macgillivray wrongly contends that I did not give any 19 magazine issue and page numbers for any infringing images in my notices until 20 October 11, 2004. Specifically, Mr. Macgillivray states in paragraph 21 of his 21 declaration, “On October 11, 2004 ..., Dr. Zada finally provided notices in a format 22 that identified Perfect 10 magazine issue and page numbers of images whose copyright 23 Dr. Zada claimed to have been infringed, at least for some of the listed URLs.” In fact, 24 I provided some such information in all DMCA notices beginning on May 31, 2004, 25 and also referred Google to perfect10.com, another source for the original images, in 26 all notices from June 4, 2004 onward. In my May 31, June 4, June 16, June 28, July 6, 27 July 11, and July 19 notices, there were respectively at least 11, 13, 45, 203, 203, 203, 28 and 260 URLs for which I specified the magazine issue and page numbers. To 1 illustrate, I have attached as Exhibit 11 portions from my May 31, 2004 and June 28, 2 2004 notices and have highlighted several of the instances where magazine issue and 3 page numbers were specified. On the very first page of my May 31, 2004 DMCA

4 notice to Google, I state, "The infringements were found by doing advanced Google 5 searches using the model name on the second line and "nude" on the first line. So, for 6 example, the first URL below was found by doing an advanced Google search using 7 "nude" and "Monika Zsibrita" http://pix.alronix.net/Photo_Scans/Tits/8 Monika_Zsibrita/pic0076.htm (from Perfect 10 Magazine, Vol 2, No. 2, pp 27).
9 (Emphasis added).

10 24. The information, "Perfect 10 Magazine, Vol 2, No. 2, pp 27" precisely 11 identifies the copyrighted work being infringed upon, by giving magazine issue and 12 page numbers, information which Mr. Macgillivray asserts I did not provide prior to 13 October 11, 2004. I have attached for the convenience of the Court as Exhibit 12, page 14 27 of Perfect 10 Magazine Vol 2, No. 2, which was also attached as Exhibit 77, page 15 467 to my August declaration. Behind that page I have placed the infringing URL 16 listed by Google from a web search on "Monika Zsibrita" which was the subject of my 17 May 31, 2004 DMCA notice, and which Google was continuing to link to on 18 September 27, 2004, and the infringing image obtained by clicking on that link.
19 Contrary to Mr. Macgillivray's assertions in paragraph 20 of his declaration, what I 20 provided to Google, namely the page or pages from Perfect 10 Magazine which 21 contained the infringed image(s) at issue, and the URL of the web page containing that 22 infringing image, was all Google needed to find and disable access to that infringing 23 material.

24 25. As a second example, page 183 of Exhibit 11, which is a page from 25 Perfect 10's June 28, 2004 notice, contains a column entitled "Perfect 10 Magazine 26 Issue or Website" in which magazine issues and page numbers are provided, contrary 27 to Mr. Macgillivray's statements that I did not provide such information prior to 28 October 11, 2004.

1 26. Mr. Macgillivray also wrongly contends that Google did not have enough 2 information to process an undisclosed number of unidentified requests, in part, 3 because, according to Mr. Macgillivray, I did not “identify jpg. or image file 4 locations.” In particular, in paragraph 24 of his declaration, Mr. Macgillivray states
5 that “none of the URLs identified in Exhibit 81 identify jpg. or image file locations.”
6 Mr. Macgillivray’s statements are incorrect for at least four different reasons.

7 27. First, page 497 of Exhibit 81 specifies robb斯celebs.co.uk...Katie_richmond0029.jpg, which is a jpg file, which Google has not removed as of 8 September 28, 2005 (see Page 191 of Exhibit 14).

9 28. Second, I have provided to Google at least 60 other URLs ending in 10 “.jpg” which Google either has not removed or took at least 160 days to remove, 11 certainly more than the one or two weeks claimed by Mr. Macgillivray. Those 60 12 URLs appear in Exhibit 84 to my August declaration. I have attached for the 13 convenience of the court page 540 from Exhibit 84 as Exhibit 13 to this declaration 14 and have highlighted the URLs ending in “.jpg” which Google still did not remove for 15 at least 175 days. I have also highlighted a number of additional URLs ending in 16 “.jpg.” on page 154 of Exhibit 6 and have placed in Exhibit 14 the corresponding 17 images which have not been removed by Google. Page 188 of Exhibit 14 was attached 18 to my August declaration as page 551 of Exhibit 85 and is a “.jpg” file with Perfect 10 19 infringements that has been displayed by Google for more than 460 days after notice.
20

21 29. Third, in any event, the URLs in Perfect 10’s notices almost always 22 specified image file locations because they were almost always either the URL that 23 Google itself placed below the Perfect 10 image being displayed via Image Search or 24 the URL of the infringing web page containing that image. Contrary to what Mr.
25 Macgillivray suggests in paragraph 17 of his declaration, Perfect 10’s notices never 26 identified, as the location of an infringing work, the broad domain of a hosting 27 company such as geocities.com.

1 30. Fourth, the only information that is required to locate the model images is 2 the website URL (also known as the base URL¹), and the model name. By doing a 3 combination Google image search using the function “site:” (which is described at the 4 bottom of page 95 of Exhibit 5 to my August declaration), on the base URL and the 5 model name, Google could have readily found the infringing images if it had wanted
6 to. In other words, once Google is given the website on which the infringements 7 occur and the name of the model, Google has a function which allows it to locate 8 all images of that model that it displays from that website. Google can then easily 9 compare those images to the referenced issue/vol. of Perfect 10 Magazine (or even 10 easier, perfect10.com) and confirm that the images it is displaying are in fact Perfect 11 10 images. So contrary to Mr. Macgillivray’s statements, Google does not need a URL
12 specification ending in “.jpg,” it just needs the base URL and model name. Pages 60 13 through 88 of Exhibit 1 provide examples of this type of search. (See also Zada Decl.
14 ¶106, Exh. 89). For example, to view the images on page 61 of Exhibit 1, I did a 15 combination search on russiancelebrities.org and “Sasha Brinkova,” who is a Perfect 16 10 model. This caused Google to display only images of Sasha Brinkova from the 17 website russiancelebrities.org.

18 31. At no time until I read Mr. Macgillivray’s declaration on September 26, 19 2005, has Google ever suggested to me that I should specify URLs ending with “.jpg.” 20 (Instead of “.jpg.” as stated by Mr. Macgillivray in paragraph 24, the correct term is 21 “.jpg”). This is confirmed by various emails which Mr. Macgillivray has attached as 22 Exhibit F to his declaration. Not one of those emails states that I needed to specify 23 “.jpg. or image file locations.” In any event, Perfect 10’s notices nonetheless did 24 specify the locations of infringing images either by specifying the URL Google placed 25

26 1 The base URL is that portion of a URL that determines the website at issue. Thus the 27 URL abc-celebs.com is the base URL for the URL abc-28 celebs.com/html_modelle/isabelle_funaro.htm which would describe a particular web page in the website abc-celebs.com. The base URL is typically the URL of the homepage for the website.

1 beneath the infringing image displayed via Google Image Search and/or the URL of 2 the infringing web page containing that infringing image.

3 32. In fact, Google led Perfect 10 to believe that it had all the information it
4 needed to “process” Perfect 10’s DMCA notices. For example, page 182 of Exhibit F
5 to Mr. Macgillivray’s declaration, which was an email dated July 27, 2004, states, 6 “Your DMCA complaints dated 6/28/04 and 6/1/04 are nearly finished with 7 processing.” (Emphasis added). I have attached that email as page 194 of Exhibit 15.
8 I have attached as page 195 of Exhibit 15 another email dated May 13, 2005 from 9 Google which states, “In accordance with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act, we 10 have completed processing your infringement complaints.” (Emphasis added).
11 There is no mention in these notices that Google required URLs ending in “jpg” or 12 magazine issue and page numbers to process Perfect 10’s notices.

13 33. Although in some instances Google has complained that Perfect 10 did 14 not send it “soft copies” of its DMCA notices (meaning copies sent via email), in many 15 cases Perfect 10 did send such soft copies. See, e.g., page 38 of Exhibit E to 16 Macgillivray declaration (soft copy of 6/1/04 notice); Exhibit 46, page 404 of my 17 August declaration (soft copy of 6/28/04 notice, sent in email format on July 19, 2004).
18 I sent those soft copies at Google’s request even though Google originally stated it did 19 not want soft copies. (See page 196 of Exhibit 16).

20 34. While Google has complained that Perfect 10’s DMCA notices are 21 difficult to understand in that they encompassed more than just copyright violations, 22 every notice I sent to Google began with the URLs which infringed copyright first. If I 23 included rights of publicity violations in a notice, there would be a second letter 24 immediately after the list of copyright violations, clearly explaining that the next set of 25 URLs dealt with rights of publicity violations. An example of such a letter appears in 26 Exhibit 43, page 311, which states, “What follows below are URLs that were also 27 reached by doing Google searches which contain rights of publicity violations.”
28 (Emphasis added).

1 35. The information that I provided in my DMCA notices is the information
2 requested by Google. Attached as Exhibit 16 is an email from Google which I 3 received on June 1, 2004, which states, "To file a notice of infringement with us, you 4 must provide a written communication (by fax or regular mail, not by email), that sets 5 forth the items specified below..." (emphasis added).

- 6 1. "Identify in sufficient detail the copyrighted work that you believe has been 7 infringed upon."

8 In response to that request, I initially gave the exact page number of the exact 9 issue of the Perfect 10 magazine in which that image appeared for some of 10 the URLs (See paragraph 23 above). After the first few notices, I began to 11 give a range of typically 6-7 pages of that model in which the infringing 12 image appeared, as looking up the exact page number was very time 13 consuming. For example, in my June 28, 2004 notice, for Monika Zsibrita, 14 the reference was to Perfect 10 Magazine, Volume 2, Number 2, pages 22-15 28. (See Zada Decl. Exhibit 43, page 303). Those pages are shown in Zada 16 Decl. Exhibit 77, pages 462-468.

- 17 2. "Identify the material you claim is infringing upon the copyrighted work listed 18 in item # 1 above."

19 In its email, Google went on to describe the procedure for Web Search 20 without mentioning Image Search at all. For Web Search, Google asked for 21 the search term used, which I gave them, which was typically the name of the 22 model whose image was infringed, and the URL in green at the bottom of the 23 web search result, which I gave them as well. As I explained in paragraph 97 24 to my August declaration, I followed this same protocol to describe the 25 location of the infringing images displayed via Image Search, providing 26 Google either the exact URL that Google placed beneath the infringing 27 image displayed, or the exact URL of the web page containing the infringing 28 image.

1 36. At the bottom of paragraph 21 of Mr. Macgillivray's declaration, he 2 wrongly claims that "many of Dr. Zada's notices did not comply with Section 3 512(c)(3)'s requirement that notifications must be "provided to the designated agent of 4 a service provider." Mr. Macgillivray makes this claim without providing any 5 examples of such deficient notices.

6 37. I sent all notices, unless otherwise requested by Mr. Macgillivray, to 7 either the email address listed on Google's filing with the Copyright Office, which was 8 legal@google.com, or the fax number listed on that filing, which was 650-618-1499, 9 or both (see Zada Decl., Exhibit 38, page 368). Furthermore, Mr. Macgillivray's 10 declaration has attached most if not all of Perfect 10's notices, so he must have 11 received them.

12 38. In footnote 8 of page 7 of its Opposition, Google states, "Google has not, 13 to its knowledge, received the notices attached as Exs. 66 and 67." First of all, 14 attached as Exhibit 17, are Exhibits 66 (page DMCA0608), and 67 (page DMCA0621), 15 to my August declaration, which are copies of fax receipts showing that I faxed to 650-
16 618-1499, the listed fax number for Google's copyright agent, 12 pages and 15 pages 17 respectively on February 17, 2005 and March 6, 2005, corresponding to those notices.
18 Secondly, those notices were also produced to Google in June as part of Perfect 10's 19 document production.

20 39. Although Mr. Macgillivray complains in paragraph 25 of his declaration 21 that some of Perfect 10's notices were "only faxed" to Google, that is in fact exactly 22 what Google requested, as shown by page 196 of Exhibit 16, which states, "To file a 23 notice of infringement with us, you must provide a written communication (by fax or 24 regular mail, not by email) ..." (Emphasis added).

25 40. Finally, in paragraph 25 of his declaration, Mr. Macgillivray makes some 26 assertions about Exhibit 81 to my August declaration that are impossible to respond to 27 because he does not list the URLs that he claims are defective. However, he does 28 incorrectly suggest that Exhibit 81 dealt with Google Web Search. Exhibit 81 dealt

1 with Google Image Search. In paragraph 96 to my August declaration, I specifically 2 state, "... Google, via its Image Search, is continuing to display at least 1043 Perfect 3 10 images from ..." (Emphasis added). Furthermore, I included in Exhibit 80 and in 4 Exhibits 83 A-K and L-Z to my August declaration the actual Google Image Search
5 results to support Exhibit 81. Had Mr. Macgillivray reviewed the evidence in Exhibits
6 80, 83 A-K, or 83 L-Z, he should have realized that Exhibit 81 dealt with image search 7 results, not web search results, and that I provided evidence in those exhibits to 8 support Exhibit 81's accuracy. I have included in the model folders in Exhibit 2 9 evidence that Google was continuing to display 1035 of the 1043 images identified in 10 Exhibit 81 on or about October 1, 2005.

11 Google's Failure To Terminate AdSense Websites

12 41. My August declaration contained considerable evidence that the 26
13 AdSense websites that I listed in Exhibit 100 to that declaration infringe Perfect 10 14 copyrights. Furthermore, I have provided Google with numerous DMCA notices of 15 infringement regarding those websites. Nevertheless, in the last month and a half, 16 Google has more than doubled the number of links to those infringing websites and 17 continues to place ads or Google search boxes on them.

18 42. Attached as Exhibit 18 is an Excel spreadsheet which I created on October 19 4, 2005. This spreadsheet shows the change in the number of Google links to the 26
20 infringing AdSense websites which were listed in Exhibit 100 to my August 21 declaration. The first two columns show the number of Google Web Search and Image 22 Search results linking to those websites on August 7, 2005. The next two columns 23 show the number of Google Web Search and Image Search results linking to those 24 same infringing AdSense websites on October 4, 2005. The support for these numbers 25 is contained in a folder entitled "AdSense Links 100405" in Exhibit 2. The "DATE"
26 column gives the first date that I notified Google of infringements of Perfect 10 27 copyrights on that website. The rightmost column gives the number of separate 28 notices of infringement that Perfect 10 sent to Google regarding that AdSense website.

1 For example, Perfect 10 sent to Google 21 separate notices of infringement for the 2 website celebstation.org, beginning on June 28, 2004, and 19 separate notices each for 3 the websites averlo.com, megapolis.com.ar, and mg.danboss.com, beginning as early 4 as June 4, 2004. Nevertheless, Google continues to display Perfect 10 copyrighted 5 images from those websites and link those images to those websites, which display 6 Google ads. I have placed in a file entitled "More Adsense Infringements" in Exhibit 7 2, examples of Perfect 10 copyrighted images that Google displayed as of September 8 24, 2005 or later, and linked to the above websites. I have also placed in a file entitled 9 "Still AdSense" examples of Google ads or Google search boxes displayed on such 10 websites on or about October 1, 2005 or later.

11 43. Exhibit 18 shows that between August 7, 2005 and October 4, 2005, 12 Google more than doubled the total number of links to the 26 infringing AdSense 13 websites listed in Exhibit 18. For example, Google increased the number of Web 14 Search links to the twenty six AdSense websites from 1,685,318 on August 7, 2005, to 15 4,565,442 on October 4. The number of images which Google displayed from and 16 linked to those websites increased from 401,194 on August 7, to 749,483 on October 4.
17 There are five websites listed in Exhibit 9 for which Google received notice of 18 infringement more than 440 days ago: averlo.com, celebstation.org, eracle.it, index.hr, 19 and megapolis.com.ar. Yet Google continues to display Perfect 10 images from these 20 websites and link those Perfect 10 images to those websites, which either display 21 Google ads or Google search boxes, or both.

22 44. Google is continuing to place Google ads and/or Google search boxes on 23 the same infringing AdSense Websites that were detailed in my August declaration. I 24 have placed examples of such ads, which I printed on or about October 1, 2005, on 25 pages 17 through 40 of Exhibit 1 to this declaration, and in Exhibit 2 in a file entitled 26 "Still AdSense Websites." Also attached as Exhibit 19 to this declaration are the first 27 five pages from Exhibit 29 to my August declaration, reprinted on October 1, 2005 to 28 show that Google is still advertising on the same infringing web pages.

1 45. Google has even started to display Perfect 10 images via Google Image
2 Search after I complained about them being infringed on Google AdSense websites.
3 Attached as Exhibit 20 are examples of Google's display of Perfect 10 images from the 4 websites jurgita.com and serialgamer.com that I printed from google.com on October 5 1, 2005. I had attached four of those infringing images to my August declaration as 6 Exhibit 29, pages 226, 233, 236, and 237 to show examples of Google ads next to full 7 size Perfect 10 copyrighted images, but at that time, Google was not, to my 8 knowledge, displaying such images via Google Image Search.

9 Google's Failure To Remove or Disable Access To Perfect 10 Passwords

10 46. Google is also continuing to display hundreds of perfect10.com 11 username/password combinations as described paragraphs 119-124 and Exhibits 102-12 104 of my August declaration. Page 212 of Exhibit 21 shows that Google is 13 continuing to display the username/password combination bshanner:natoma to 14 perfect10.com that Google also displayed on page 638 of Exhibit 102. Page 213 of 15 Exhibit 21 shows that Google is continuing to advertise on the password hacking 16 website forodivx.com that displays Perfect10.com passwords. Page 214 of Exhibit 21 17 shows that Google has increased the number of links to forodivx.com from 36,200 on 18 July 24, 2005 (Zada Decl. Exhibit 106, page 669) to 60,700 on October 3, 2005.

19 Google Is Continuing To Cause Search Results On Perfect 10 Model Names In 20 Many Cases To Go Predominantly To Google AdSense Websites

21 47. Another reason why Google has not "expeditiously disabled access" to 22 infringing Perfect 10 images is because Google is continuing to cause over 95% of its 23 search results on certain Perfect 10 model names to return listings for websites which 24 contain Perfect 10 infringements and on which Google places ads. I discussed this in 25 my August declaration, in particular for Perfect 10 models Alena Drazna and Nathalie 26 de Nostuejouis, and that is still the case. I have attached in the model folders of Alena 27 Drazna and Nathalie de Nostuejouis in Exhibit 2, files entitled "web search listings

1 1013" which show that at least 95% of Google search results on those model names are 2 still returning results for Google AdSense websites as of October 13, 2005.

3 48. Google AdSense websites are also continuing to appear first in Google 4 search results on the names of many Perfect 10 models. Attached as Exhibit 22 are the 5 Web Search results for Perfect 10 model Carla Alapont which I included as Exhibit 32
6 in my August declaration which were printed on July 7, 2005, and the first three pages 7 of the Google Web Search results for Perfect 10 model Lisa Fuxler which were 8 attached as Exhibit 33, pages 249-251 of that declaration. I reprinted both search 9 results on October 4, 2005 to show that they are essentially unchanged. The same 18
10 listings for anycities.com, a Google AdSense website, appear first in the Carla Alapont 11 results, and listings for the same Google AdSense website, serialgamer.com, appear 12 first in the Lisa Fuxler results.

13 Errors In The Declaration Of Susan Lee

14 49. Susan Lee used the wrong technique in her attempt to challenge the 15 correctness of some of the URLs in Exhibit 81 to my August declaration. I stated in 16 paragraph 97 to that declaration that in many cases, the URLs in Exhibit 81 were those 17 that Google placed under the Perfect 10 image it displayed, with the starting www.
18 and/or http:// removed. Ms. Lee erroneously assumed that if she put that URL with the 19 www. and/or http:// removed into her browser bar, the image should appear. That is 20 simply not correct, as Ms. Lee demonstrated. But this does not mean that the images 21 are not available on Google – to the contrary, Ms. Lee would have found the images 22 had she simply (1) done a search on the model name and looked for the URL I placed 23 in Exhibit 81, or, if too many images appeared using that approach, (2) done a search 24 on the model name and the base URL, which would have returned a much smaller 25 number of images, just the images of that model that Google displays from the website 26 determined by that base URL.

27 50. In other respects, Ms. Lee's declaration lacks the necessary specificity 28 for me to analyze and respond to it because she does not specify which URLs she

1 inputted into her browser. For example, when Anthony David identified which URLs
2 he inputted into his browser in his declaration in support of Amazon.com's opposition
3 to Perfect 10's preliminary injunction motion, I was able to determine that Mr. David's 4 analysis was riddled with inputting errors. Ms. Lee has made it impossible to check 5 her work in the same way. Thus, I was forced to effectively "reverse engineer" Ms.
6 Lee's methodology. I did so by reviewing her "error reports," some of which revealed 7 the following URLs on certain pages of her exhibits: Page 3: icemanvr6.de; page 5: 8 ass.punt.nl; page 9: ozami.com; page 10: slovnet.ru; page 13: transleb.com; page 15: 9 vitos.it; and page 19: lost-hwy.porncity.net. With this information in hand, I then 10 searched for all URLs listed in Exhibit 81 from my August declaration that matched 11 the above URLs. In this way, I was able to narrow down which URLs Ms. Lee may 12 have inputted for her declaration. I then inputted the base URLs listed above with the 13 model names listed in Exhibit 81 to my August declaration whose images were 14 infringed on those websites. This analysis resulted in what is shown on Exhibit 23 15 hereto. For example, for page 221 of Exhibit 23, I did a Google image search on 16 ozami.com and Jana Mikusova. This search returns all the images that Google 17 displays of Jana Mikusova from the website ozami.com. The rightmost two URLs on 18 page 221 of Exhibit 23 under images of Jana Mikusova, match the URLs listed on 19 page 496 of Exhibit 81. Exhibit 23 shows that every one of the URLs from Exhibit 20 81 which Ms. Lee might have inputted, based on the URLs I could ascertain from 21 her error reports, was in fact a URL placed below an infringing Perfect 10 image 22 displayed by Google. In other words, Ms. Lee did not prove that there were any 23 incorrect URLs in Exhibit 81, she just incorrectly conducted the searches for the 24 infringing images.

25 Inaccuracies And/Or Questionable Statements In The Declaration Of John R.
26 Levine

27 51. In paragraph 25 of his declaration, Dr. Levine states that "The Zada 28 declaration states in paragraphs 29 through 35 that Google is keeping full quality

1 copies of images, including those purported to be in violation of Perfect 10's 2 copyrights, in its cache, and is providing full quality images to Google users. I can 3 find no evidence to support that claim, and I believe it to be mistaken."

4 52. The only paragraph from 29 through 35 (of my August declaration) that 5 uses the word "cache," is paragraph 35. In no portion of paragraph 35 do I state that 6 "Google is keeping full quality copies of images in its cache." The evidence that 7 'Google is providing full quality images to Google users,' even though I do not put it 8 that way, is evident from the fact that the user goes to google.com, and without leaving 9 google.com and/or the affiliated URLs Google uses to cache images, can view, copy, 10 or download a full size Perfect 10 image, even when that image is no longer available 11 on the underlying website. See, e.g., Zada Decl. Exhs. 20, 21.

12 53. In paragraph 28, Dr. Levine claims that it is "extremely disingenuous" for 13 me to claim that the user views the full size image without leaving google.com.
14 However, it is correct to say the user views the full size image while at Google.com.
15 Even if the full size image may reside on the server of a third party website, the user 16 can look through a window on google.com to see that image.

17 54. Dr. Levine repeatedly describes the images Google displays via its image 18 search as "thumbnail images." However, this is a misnomer. A number of the Perfect 19 10 reduced size images displayed by Google are much larger than a "thumbnail." For 20 example, the larger reduced size image of Monika Zsibrita on page 68 of Exhibit 1 is 1 21 7/8" by 1 3/8" which is more than eight times the size of a typical thumbnail (which is 22 approximately 5/8" v. 1/2").

23 Google Collects And Displays Infringing Perfect 10 Images In The Same Fashion
24 As Other Infringing Websites

25 55. The primary difference between the image display of Google and the 26 image display of another infringing website, say, 3thehardway.nl, is that Google has a 27 much larger library of images to display. Google admits that it collects its images 28 from the Internet (Zada Decl, Exh 111). 3thehardway.nl admits that it gathers its

1 images from the Internet as well. I have attached such as disclaimer which I printed 2 from 3thehardway.nl as Exhibit 24. When Google displays a full size Perfect 10
3 copyrighted image from 3thehardway.nl (see pages 1-6 of Exhibit 1), it looks the same
4 to the user as when the image is displayed by 3thehardway.nl. If 3thehardway.nl 5 copied hundreds of thousands of additional adult images, and added a search box, 6 3thehardway.nl would be very similar to Google, as far as adult images are concerned.

7 Many Infringing Websites Have An Image Search Feature And Display Reduced
8 Size Images In A Fashion Similar To Google

9 56. Many of the larger infringing websites have a search function to help the 10 user find images of a particular model. If an infringing website does not have a search 11 box, it is a simple matter to add one by adding computer code so that when the model 12 name is entered, the user is transported to a page in the website containing images of 13 that model.

14 57. There are numerous infringing websites that allow the user to search on 15 Perfect 10 model names, as the user does on Google.com, to view infringing Perfect 10 16 images. Attached as Exhibit 25 are two pages of mostly Perfect 10 reduced size 17 images from the website celebs.jerkengine.com, which is a search engine. The user 18 enters the model name into a search box, presses "enter," and celebs.jerkengine.com 19 displays a set of reduced size images in a display very similar to that of Google (see 20 pages 234 and 235 of Exhibit 25). Below each image, as in Google's display, is some 21 information relating to where celebs.jerkengine copied the image. From Perfect 10's 22 standpoint, the only difference between celebs.jerkengine and Google is that on 23 celebs.jerkengine.com the user must pay to see the full size image. Google displays 24 the full size image for free.

25 58. As a second example, attached as pages 236 and 237 of Exhibit 25 are 26 two pages of reduced sized images from the website xusenet.com, which also has a 27 search function. The website xusenet.com has millions of images, like Google. The 28 primary difference between Google and xusenet.com, as far as Perfect 10 images is

1 concerned, is that xusenet.com charges to see full size Perfect 10 images, whereas 2 Google displays them for free.

3 Google Misstatements Regarding Irreparable Harm

4 59. In his declaration, Mr. Bridges attributes some validity to a number of 5 highly misleading if not completely inaccurate quotes about me. I did not make the 6 statement attributed to me on line 10 of page 6 of Google's Memorandum and in fact 7 complained to Beth Silfin of Harper and Collins, the book's publisher, after reading an 8 excerpt of the book, about its inaccuracy.

9 60. When I started Perfect 10 in 1996, I was willing to lose some money 10 initially because all businesses typically lose money at the beginning. But I expected 11 to make money overall because of the extremely high quality of our product. Perfect 12 10, Inc. needs to make money soon, not only to survive itself, but for all of its 13 employees who depend upon Perfect 10 for their income.

14 61. Perfect 10 Magazine has been carried by national distributors since 15 inception. It has been carried by both national and international distributors since the 16 second issue, which was printed in the winter of 1997. The articles attached as pages 17 96 and 97 to the Bridges declaration contradict one another and both are incorrect.
18 The article on page 96 states, "the magazine, to be published internationally six times a 19 year, ..." The article on page 97 states, "National distributors refuse to carry the $6.95 20 magazine..." Both articles are in error – the magazine began as a quarterly (published 21 four times a year), and was distributed nationally from inception.

22 Timeline of Perfect 10 Discovery of Infringing Conduct of Google.

23 62. Perfect 10 first learned that Google was displaying Perfect 10 images in 24 late May, 2004, and I began sending DMCA notices to Google on May 31, 2004. In 25 October of 2004, I first learned that Google was itself displaying confidential 26 username/password combinations to perfect10.com and began including such 27 infringing URLs in my DMCA notices (Exh. 47, page DMCA307). In mid to late 28 December, 2004, I first learned that Google was displaying thousands of full size

1 Perfect 10 images via its cache link, and mentioned that in my December 21, 2004
2 DMCA notice to Google stating, "Jerkengine.com has thousands of Perfect 10 3 infringements available by clicking on the Google cache link..." (Exh. 55, page 4 DMCA0414), and in every DMCA notice since.

5 63. I first discovered that Google was facilitating the downloading of Perfect 6 10 reduced size images onto mobile phones in or around May 1, 2005. Upon learning
7 of the "Google Mobile" program, I explained to Google in my May 7, 2005 and June 8 2005 DMCA notices that this program and Google's ongoing display of thousands of 9 Perfect 10 images was damaging Perfect 10's business more and more (see Exh. 71, 10 Page DMCA0678).

11 64. On October 10, 2005, I discovered for the first time that users can now see 12 thousands of Perfect 10 copyrighted images via earthlink.net, which states that its 13 image search is "Powered by Google."

14 65. In the last few months, Perfect 10 has suffered a significant decline in the 15 number of mobile phone downloads of Perfect 10 reduced size images that we are 16 selling via our mobile phone partner, Fonestarz. For example, in February 2005, 17 Perfect 10 6,157 downloads of Perfect 10 images were purchased via the Vodafone 18 UK network. In August 2005, the same network accounted for only 1,843 image 19 downloads.

20 66. Because Google added numerous Perfect 10 copyrighted images to its 21 Image Search results on or around August 12, 2005, it is now displaying more Perfect 22 10 images than I have ever seen it display before - close to 5,000 copies of 23 approximately 1,500 unique images, mostly Perfect 10's best images.

24 67. Google is continuing to massively damage Perfect 10's business in every 25 way described in my August declaration. Google is continuing to display close to 26 5,000 copies of Perfect 10 copyrighted images and link them virtually exclusively to 27 websites which show additional infringing Perfect 10 images rather than to 28 perfect10.com. Google is continuing to display hundreds of confidential

1 username/password combinations to perfect10.com. Google is continuing to link 2 virtually every search result on a Perfect 10 model name to websites which 3 misappropriate Perfect 10 images rather than to perfect10.com. Google is continuing 4 to reformat Perfect 10 images so that users can view them for free on their cell phones.
5 And Google is displaying thousands of full size Perfect 10 images for free via its 6 image search and cache links.

7 I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of 8 America that the foregoing is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

9 Executed on October 16, 2005, at Los Angeles, California.

About the 2004 SI Swimsuit Edition

Supermodel MARISA MILLER struggled to keep a straight face while shooting her SPORTS ILLUSTRATED SWIMSUIT EDITION photoshoot in rural Iowa - when she was attacked by sheep.

A flock of sheep wandered onto the down-on-the-farm shoot and started nibbling at Miller's feet.

Rather than shooting the sheep away, the photocrew welcomed them and took shots of Marisa with them.

She recalls, "I thought they were going to bite me but they were very soft and gentle."

The Mercury News, the paper that employed me for 10 years, has been abandoning its once-proud ambitions. These cuts, which I predict will impress Wall Street not in the slightest, are going to further damage the journalism. The Silicon Valley community will suffer.

Yes, I realize the dilemma for the people who run Knight Ridder and other newspaper companies. Wall Street's demands are insatiable, and the business model is eroding. But the day is approaching when the cycle of cuts in spending leading to cuts in circulation and even more cuts in advertising will be hard to stop.

I grow more and more discouraged about the future of newspapers.

Submitted by Dan Gillmor on Sat, 09/24/2005 - 9:31pm.

I'm in Tokyo for the next several days to promote the new Japanese edition of my book, We the Media. Lots of press interviews, plus a lecture as well as a blogger meetup tomorrow night. (It's still a little weird to be on the subject of journalism instead of the journalist.)

This morning, for one of the articles, Joi Ito and I had a conversation about blogging, journalism, media differences between the U.S. and Japan, and other topics. From what I can tell, based on the questions I'm being asked, Japan is getting fiercely interested in citizens media and its effects on society. Given the traditionally non-individualist nature of the Japanese culture, the changes could be fairly...

SOUVISEJÍCÍ KLUBY: Český holky v pornoprůmyslu | Sportovní hvízdy | Slovak celebrity by nano | Celebrity video | Reality show | Nahota na jevišti - zkuste je používat, aby zde nebyl zbytečný plevel a tam kvalitní pøíspivky.

!!! Preferujeme: náhledy obrázku, pøípadnì odkazy na nì, vyjímky jsou povoleny, ale uvidomte si, že ne každý sedí na tlusté lince, nìkterø mají stále modem, tak jim to nedilejme tižší, než to mají a také prosíme slušné chování, žádné osobní výpady, nadávky atd. To si øeštì v pošti!!! Než svùj pøíspivkù odeslete, radši si jej prohlédnìte pomocí tlaèítka NÁHLED, abyste vidili jak bude vypadat.

Tento klub není uvádììn v pøehledu Lapiducha, pokud jej nechcete pokaždèe marnì hledat, dejte si ho do oblíbených. Díky.

vzkaz pro køíklounské anonymy: A to, že se vždycky z nijakého slizu pod kamenem vyhrne houf piémundù, kteøí se stydí nebo dokonce neumí podepsat a jen hrđinni zpoza rohu vytrubují, jaký je to ten Pepa nebo Franta pitomec a samolibé havado a blb, tramládá na plechovou trumpetku a gati na jedné kšandi, a zdrhat! to sem mu to dal, kuci - to je už prostì takový národní folklór, na který už si všichni v komentáøích pomalu zvykli [autor: petr stanièek, jenž nemá s touto diskuzí nic spoleèného | typologie potížisty part1 | part2 | part3]
